

Piglets can Fly!

Piglets can Fly!

By John Bonthron

Piglets can Fly!

This story was written by Grampa and Grandma for Ethan aged 4 and Drew aged 2.

Piglets can Fly!

Once upon a time there were three little piglets.

The biggest piglet was called Oink!

The middle-sized piglet was called Oink! Oink!

The littlest piglet was called Oink! Oink! Oink! who had a magic wand.

One day the three piglets were playing hide and seek.

Oink! said to Oink! Oink! :

"Let's hide from Oink! Oink! Oink! He'll never find us in the shed at the bottom of the garden."

It was dark in the shed.

"You're right," whispered Oink! Oink! "He'll never find us in here, will he?"

The two piglets were all alone, pushing against the door to stop little Oink! Oink! Oink! from getting in. Behind them, in the corner of the shed was a secret black box.

Standing outside the shed, little Oink! Oink! Oink! swished his magic wand and put himself inside the box.

The lid of the box creaked open, "Kerreeeeek!".

Piglets can Fly!

Oink! Oink! Oink! jumped up wearing a white sheet over himself and shouted:

"Boo! Gotcha! Again and again and again!"

"Help!" shouted Oink! "It's a ghost! Run!"

Both little piglets ran back into their house.

"Help! Help! Help! There's a scary ghost in the shed."

Little Oink! Oink! Oink! swished his magic wand and put himself inside the kitchen cupboard.

When the two piglets ran into the kitchen, Oink! Oink! Oink! jumped out and shouted.

Piglets can Fly!

"Boo! Gotcha! Again and again and again!"

"Help! There's a scary ghost in the kitchen too. Run!"

The two piglets ran out of the house into their car and drove off.

"Where are we going to?" asked Oink! Oink!

"To the cinema, to see Lightning McQueen. He'll never find us there!"

Piglets can Fly!

As the car drove away, little Oink! Oink! Oink! swished his magic wand and put himself in the back of the seat, hiding under a blanket, still dressed as a ghost.

Oink! was driving too fast and skidded into bushes beside the road. No one was hurt but the crash caused a big tailback of people trying to get to the cinema.

A police car arrived to sort out the problem.

The policeman looked in through the car window and said:

"That was terrible driving. Let's be having your full names, young sirs."

Piglets can Fly!

"My name is Oink! the Piglet."

"What sort of name is that? And what is your name?"

"My name is Oink! Oink! the Piglet."

From under the blanket little Oink! Oink! Oink! jumped up and shouted.

"Boo! Gotcha, again and again and again!"

"Oh really!" said the policeman, "So, Mr Ghost I suppose you call yourself Oink! Oink! Oink! the Piglet?"

"No," said Oink! Oink! Oink! "my name is Freddy the Magician. Look!"

Piglets can Fly!

He swished his magic wand and the three piglets grew wings and flew out of the car into the sky shouting:

Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink!

Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink!

Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink!

Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink! Oink!

All the people pointed up to the three piglets and shouted:

Piglets can Fly!

“Piglets can fly!”

Piglets can Fly!

This is a story about three little piglets who like to play hide and seek.

The littlest piglet has a magic wand and uses it to do magic tricks.

If you would like to read other stories for children and grown-ups too, go to:

www.thebuzzinbee.co.uk

All stories are free to download as PDFs and some are available in printed form. Just email and ask.